

Town of Aurora

Cultural Action Plan 2024-2028

Land Acknowledgement

The Town of Aurora acknowledges that the Anishinaabe lands on which we live and work are the traditional and treaty territories of the Chippewas of Georgina Island, as well as many other Nations whose presence here continues to this day. As the closest First Nation community to Aurora, we recognize the special relationship the Chippewas have with the lands and waters of this territory. They are the water protectors and environmental stewards of these lands, and as a municipality we join them in these responsibilities.

We further acknowledge that Aurora is part of the treaty lands of the Mississaugas and Chippewas, recognized through Treaty #13 as well as the Williams Treaties of 1923.

A shared understanding of the rich cultural heritage that has existed for centuries, and how our collective past brought us to where we are today, will help us walk together into a better future.

1.0 Executive Summary

The Cultural Action Plan (CAP) provides a strategy to leverage local cultural resources to improve quality of life, support economic development, bolster community cohesion, and nurture an energetic engagement with our diverse population.

The Town's first Cultural Plan was approved in 2014, which marked the municipality's initial efforts to recognize cultural planning as an essential pillar of a thriving community. The 2024-2028 CAP builds on the first plan and refocuses the Town's cultural planning endeavors. Like the first plan, the latest Cultural Plan is a result of extensive engagement with the community, the Town's Cultural Partners, Mayor and Aurora Town Council, and Town staff.

The CAP includes 9 Objectives that describe the Cultural Services' mission-supporting goals. These Objectives are paired with Key Results, which are the benchmarks against which we will track our progress toward achieving each Objective.

The CAP will be implemented over a five-year period, beginning in 2024. For each year of implementation, annual work plans will be created and reported publicly to ensure progress is being actively communicated and celebrated.

2.0 Definition of Culture

Poet David Whyte describes the Soul as “the indefinable essence of a person’s spirit and being” (The Heart Aroused). Similarly, if we understand our community, and the neighbourhoods we call home, as living entities, then we see Culture as the “soul life” that animates our collective spaces and shared experiences. Culture reflects the depths of our people, grants us with a sense of belonging, and ignites our imaginations.

This definition of Culture is consistent with UNESCO’s, which interprets Culture as “the set of distinctive spiritual, material, intellectual and emotional features of society or a social group, that encompasses, not only art and literature, but lifestyles, ways of living together, value systems, traditions, and beliefs” (UNESCO Framework for Cultural Statistics).

Guided by these framings of Culture, we believe that the responsibility of the Town’s Cultural Services Division is to cultivate the cultural soul of our community by linking the creative gifts within our borders to community betterment, creative expression, and an enhanced standard of living. As a key player within the cultural sector, the Town must also work to remove barriers that inhibit creativity and innovation wherever possible.

To adequately nurture our collective culture resources, a concrete plan built on a foundation of strategy and continuity is required. The CAP provides such a foundation and guides the Town’s efforts to channel the shapeshifting and dynamic nature of culture into tangible positive results for the communities we serve.

3.0 Other Terminology

Municipal Cultural Planning is the consultative process that the Town undertakes to assess and implement our cultural aspirations.

The Province of Ontario defines cultural planning as a “place-based” approach to planning and development, as well as a process to determine how cultural resources will be integrated across local government planning and decision making, to achieve the community’s goals.

Cultural planning also identifies how culture can support economic prosperity, social equity, environmental responsibility, and cultural vitality, all of which are pillars of a sustainable community.¹

Cultural Resources – municipal cultural planning embraces a broad definition of cultural resources that includes creative cultural industries, cultural spaces and industries, cultural spaces and facilities, natural and cultural heritage, festivals and events, and community cultural organizations.

Cultural Mapping is the process of identifying and mapping a community’s cultural resources to help support decision making, raise awareness, increase access to Aurora’s cultural resources, and support tourism and economic development.

Adopting a “Cultural Lens” involves establishing processes to integrate culture as a consideration across all facets of municipal planning and decision-making.

6.0 What We Heard

Between 2021 and 2023, Cultural Services staff interviewed seventeen representatives from various local cultural organizations and members of Council. The purpose was to better understand the current state of culture in Aurora and begin to define the Town's strategic vision for arts, culture, and heritage.

These important conversations made it clear that culture in Aurora is fluid and multifaceted, and that the CAP must be as inclusive and adaptable as possible to adequately reflect this diversity.

6.1 Trends

Interviewees identified the following trends impacting the arts and culture sector in Aurora and beyond:

- The local cultural sector has progressed significantly, and there is exciting potential and room to continue to grow with the appropriate support.
- Collaboration is necessary to address sector-wide issues and the quality of the partnerships developed will determine culture's impact locally.
- Post pandemic, the demographics of those most eager to return to in-person cultural functions skew younger while most current cultural opportunities in Aurora are geared to an older demographic. Town Square provides an opportunity to address this disconnect with new programming that appeals to a younger and more diverse audience.
- There has been a positive recent shift to focus on traditionally underrepresented populations in the arts, which should be encouraged, expanded, and enhanced.
- Cultural diversity is increasing in Aurora, which means there is a need for marketing and communication in multiple languages. There is a corresponding need to develop more programming that reflects the changing face of our communities.
- The way in which the community consumes information is transforming, and the cultural sector needs to adapt to maximize its reach and participation.

6.2 Challenges & Opportunities

Although many interviewees believe the Town places a strong emphasis on arts, culture, and heritage, evidenced by its financial commitment and support for numerous cultural initiatives and organizations, they also highlighted various challenges and opportunities, such as:

- More marketing and communication support is needed to raise awareness of arts, culture, and heritage programming within and outside Aurora.
- The Town and local cultural organizations should look beyond Aurora to grow their audiences and increase program participation.
- The physical inaccessibility of some cultural spaces limits who can access the full breadth of local cultural initiatives.
- There is a need to meet community groups where they are, within their own neighbourhoods, to reduce isolation and encourage community cohesion.
- Limited funding and resources can lead to fatigue among the volunteers that support our cultural organizations. Beyond the need for more stable funding, it was noted that the Town could assist with greater in-kind support, including enhanced access to affordable space and expanded marketing and communication support.
- The Town's regulations, bylaws, guidelines, and processes can be challenging for some cultural organizations to navigate and should be streamlined where possible.
- Competition among some events and activities can dilute participation for all. The Town has a role to play in supporting collaboration and communication for mutual benefit, with Culture Days being a good example of successful collaboration.

6.3 Key Takeaways

Based on an analysis of the interviewees' feedback, the following key takeaways were identified:

- A focus on policy development and legislation can better inform decision-making moving forward. Culture should be integrated into other Town priorities in order to realize a greater impact.
- Artists should be consulted appropriately when new initiatives, activations and programming is developed. Fair compensation for their participation is equally important
- The Town should provide venues where artists can practice, display their creations, and connect with others. A focus on supporting the growth of emerging artists is imperative.
- Beyond greater access to physical space, there is a need for more mentorship opportunities for younger and newer artists, and cultural professionals as a whole, in order to support the development of the industry.
- Collaboration should happen more consistently, be as inclusive as possible, and include organizations beyond the usual players.

6.4 Additional Engagement

In addition to the seventeen interviews, the draft CAP was presented to 9 Cultural Partners for review and comment, with a particular focus on the objectives and key results. Overwhelmingly, the Cultural Partner representatives were supportive of the CAP and believe it provides a solid footing that will positively benefit Aurora's cultural community.

7.0 Objectives & Key Results

Forward looking and leading organizations utilize Objectives and Key Results (OKRs) to effectively manage their goals, strategic alignment and performance and we are proud to be among a select few municipalities, and more specifically cultural services divisions, to adopt this methodology.

OKRs are a goal-setting approach designed to establish measurable targets, foster alignment, and emphasize desired outcomes. Within the Cultural Services Division, the following Objectives (the “What”) delineate our mission-supporting goals and outline deadlines for their achievement. These Objectives serve as a roadmap, offering specificity, measurability, and alignment with the Town’s overarching strategic direction. Accompanying each Objective are Key Results (the “How”), providing a clear path for attainment. These Key Results function as benchmarks against which we will gauge and monitor our progress.

8.0 Implementation and Monitoring

The CAP will continually evolve to address emerging needs and opportunities during its cyclical implementation phase. It should be seen as a flexible document that matures in tandem with the dynamic nature of the cultural sector and the evolving realities of our communities. To propel our tracking and implementation efforts forward, we will harness the power of Viva Goals, an innovative, forward-looking digital platform. This tool empowers all staff accountable for CAP implementation by providing real-time insights, fostering collaboration, and enabling agile decision-making. With Viva Goals, we can anticipate challenges, seize opportunities, and drive meaningful progress toward our cultural objectives.

9.0 Conclusion

The refreshed CAP builds on the Town's initial cultural planning efforts while also strengthening the foundation upon which culture can continue to flourish within our municipal boundaries. The CAP is an essential link between the creativity and imagination that animates our communities and the cultural planning process that determines how best to allocate our finite cultural resources. It provides a strategic approach to managing culture that makes room for creativity and passion that are the hallmarks of a robust community. We are excited to get to work implementing the CAP, and in the process make culture a more central part of our shared experiences.
